Camp Washington

Happening is a spiritual retreat for high school students, hosted at Camp Washington March 8-10th. Happening creates a relaxed, fun, and safe environment where youth can share their faith in a Christian atmosphere.

Throughout the weekend youth, young adults, and clergy share life and faith experiences. A balanced schedule includes a wide range of activities such as active discussion, low-key reflection time, informal musical jam sessions, and high-energy creative activities. A young person serves as “Rector” and leads the weekend with the help of clergy and a support staff. We provide an opportunity for youth to develop and nourish spirituality in a fun, thoughtful, and welcoming community. Happening weekends are open to high school sophomores, juniors, and seniors. The program begins Friday, March 8th at 6:00 pm and concludes on Sunday, March 10th at 5:30 pm after a closing Eucharist. Cost is $150. For more information contact

DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME in the United States was not intended to benefit farmers, as many people think.

Contrary to popular belief, American farmers did not lobby for daylight saving to have more time to work in the fields; in fact, the agriculture industry was deeply opposed to the time switch when it was first implemented on March 31, 1918, as a wartime measure. The sun, not the clock, dictated farmers' schedules, so daylight saving was very disruptive. Farmers had to wait an extra hour for dew to evaporate to harvest hay, hired hands worked less since they still left at the same time for dinner and cows weren't ready to be milked an hour earlier to meet shipping schedules. Agrarian interests led the fight for the 1919 repeal of national daylight saving time, which passed after Congress voted to override President Woodrow Wilson's veto. Rather than rural interests, it has been urban entities such as retail outlets and recreational businesses that have championed daylight saving over the decades.
